

Investment Strategy

The Hanlon All-Weather Growth Model is for investors who possess an aggressive risk tolerance and a long-term investment horizon. The investment allocation will vary, but in general will consist of index-based Strategic (buy-and-hold) investments supplemented with actively managed Tactical and Alternative holdings. The Strategic allocation may include US Equity, Developed Non-US Equity, US Fixed Income, Non-US Fixed Income, Commodities, Energy MLPs, and US REITS. The Alternative allocation may include actively managed mutual funds which may invest in equity, fixed income, and alternative investments, and may also utilize leverage, derivatives, hedging strategies, and both long and short exposure. The Tactical allocation may be invested in mutual funds which will be actively managed and invest 0% to 100% in equity or fixed income holdings, with all money not invested in either equity or fixed income assets being allocated to cash and/or cash equivalents.
